Home security is of paramount importance, especially when you are not around. Fully protect your home or office directly from your GSM phone with this wireless security kit featuring a PIR detector, a door or window open sensor, a wireless siren, and even x2 remotes

The PIR (passive infrared sensor) will detect motion up to 10 meters away, and a door or window alarm is triggered when either is opened. Additionally, it comes with a wireless siren that is powered directly by a wall socket which, when triggered, will flash lights and emit a piercing 85dB alarm to help scare away predators. You can even control the home panel with the use of a remote control when you are in the house instead of your mobile phone.

No longer are you limited to looking out of fish eye view peephole lens drilled into your door. You can see who exactly is at your door with this wired peephole wide angle camera and the 2.8 inch LCD and DVR combo. When the doorbell rings, this peephole camera takes a photo automatically so that when you return home you can see exactly who was been knocking.

The resolution of the 2.8 inch LCD display is 480x234 and the display mode can either be 19:9 or 4:3. This is ideal when you have children or old people who may be at risk from strangers and cheaters. The built-in micro SD port records many years of pictures.

This portable light features 15 super-bright white LEDs for use in places where you need a convenient extra light source.

The compact light uses 3 AA batteries (not included) to effectively illuminate a variety of areas such as: under cabinets, car trunks, RV/SUV/Van rear seat areas, doorways, utility rooms and more. The great part is that you can set this device to either stay ON constantly or to turn ON only when motion is detected. This makes it great for use as an automatic night-light for the bathroom or bedroom.
